To whom it may concern,

We are writing in response to the call for submissions for the review of GM crops moratorium.

We are private citizens and a organic producer of grains and prime lambs If we lift the band to let gm crops into this country not only will organics fail as gm crops will take over the country as birds will drop seed as will trucks nothing will be safe including every ones health as gm crops will change our dna through transmutation, as well as animals DNA, please do not go down this path. America all ready knows the damage it causes and they want us to make the same mistakes. But if we are smart we want make the same mistakes as they have. Animals that have been fed this gm corn just waste away and there is nothing in it. If they die what do you think will happen to people, once we start to eat this gm food. More sickness and death. So I urge you to think very hard about your decision .One of the solutions is to monitor the applications of nutrition, not just fertilizer, but well balanced soil balance, which there are many companies out there well ahead Gm technology. Which far out yield these, and they are nutritionally balanced, hence plays a big part in human and animal health.

Yours sincerely

J. Abram
