I am writing asking my voice to be added to those who are asking for the ban on GM crops to remain in place till 2013. I have tried to read extensively, attend forums on GM crops and discuss this issue with people of considered opinions on this topic and I feel convinced that to lift the ban would be very unwise. It seems that we still do not know enough about GM crops yet, to be sure that they are safe for humans and animals. It seems from an economic perspective there is more to be gained by leaving them in place. It seems that Bayer and Monsanto would be the only winners if the ban was lifted. Our farmers and future generation need to be protected from problems that could well develop from opening the gates to GM crop.

Yours sincerely
