Dear Sir

Genetically engineered food is unnecessary, unproven and dangerous. If you care to look, we are surrounded by the evidence of a planet which is getting more and more toxic by the day. It is beyond question that this environmental toxicity is due to "scientific progress" just the same as that which GE represents. We are being constantly reminded to return to natural foods and natural lifestyles. Are you going to be a leader who takes us further in the direction of a toxic, unnatural world, for the sake of increasing exports and squeezing every last ounce of short-term value from our natural environment? Or are you going to be a real leader - one who sees where this is all heading and stands up to be counted on behalf of future generations.

This is no dress rehearsal folks. Once you have let this dog out of the cage it's not going back. Are you willing to put your name on the death warrant of natural food for the sake of a few more dollars?

Yours sincerely
Mr Tim Cotter
