

SARAH EWING

Sarah is a Geographer with a long-standing interest in Landcare and catchment management. She has worked as a teacher and lecturer in geography and natural resource management and her research interests have centred on the practice and policy of Landcare and issues of knowledge sharing. Sarah has been a member of the Victorian Catchment Management Council for ten years. She lives on the floodplain of Melbourne's Merri Creek.

