

Dr KIM LOWELL

Dr. Kim Lowell has a dual position as leader of the Systems Modelling group in the Department of Primary Industries-Victoria, and as a Professorial Fellow of Spatial Systems Modeling at the University of Melbourne via the Cooperative Research Centre for Spatial Information. He has over 20 years experience working on fundamental and applied research projects that address quantitative landscape analysis. His main research interest currently is spatial data quality and how it affects land-use decisions.

